Less Oldham Charged With the Murder and Is Under Arrest

-The Inquest.

Kennedy was the scene of another

Kennedy was the scene of another murder Sunday night, more horrible than usual in its details. The victim was Martha Bell, a negro woman about 32 years old, who lived at Rollins Clardy's. The murderer was Less Oldham, a dissolute son of Knox Oldham, a dissolute son of Knox Oldham, a a dissolute son of knox Oldnam, a reputable white man.

Oldham, who is about 24 years old, went to a cabin on the prem-ises of Rollins Clardy, about one mile from Kennedy, and early Sun-day evening called Martha Bell out and forced her to go with him dependence.

down the road.

He fired several shots from his pistol, probably without intending to hit the woman, and she finally agreed to go with him. After they had gone a little distance the wom nad gone a little distance the wom an was heard begging him not to kill her and one of the occupants of the cabin started to go to her assistance. When Oldham saw the nan he ran a short distance into the woods, but when he saw who it was he came back to where the was he came back to where the woman was and made the negro go back. He then went on down the road with the woman some distance turther. Later pistol shots were heard and yesterday morning the dead body of the woman was found lying in the road, about 40 yards from Mr. Baynham's cabin. Her rom Mr. Baynham's cabin. Her shoes were off and on the ground close by, her hat was some distance way and her clothing was considerably disarranged. She had been shot twice. Either shot would have tatal. One was in the breast and heather in her mouth

A pen was built around the body which was left where it was found and the coroner sent for. The inquest had not been reported when we went to press.

Martha Bell, col., Killed Near Former Treasurer W. R. Day Wants to Confess.

The Crime as Told by Youtsey.

Frankfort, Ky., April 9.—Former State Treasurer Walter Day has expressed a willingness to go before the Franklin grand jury and tell what he knows of the conspiracy to assassinate Gov. Goebel, and his what he knows of the conspiracy to assassainate Gov, Goebel, and his offer will probably be accepted. Other Republican office-holders are now willing to testify. Mr. Day was on the point of resigning after the assassantion, but Taylor in duced him to hold on. Thereupon the state of the stat

YOUTSEY'S STATEMENT.

What he Has Told The Officers of His Connection With The Assassination

A Frankfort special to the Cin-cinnati Enquirer says; Henry E. Youtsey, of Newport, the detectives and attorneys say, has told more about the assassina-tion of Gov. Goebel than any of the men now under arrest for alleged men now under arrest for alleged complicity in that diabolical crime. His attorneys claim for him that he has made no "confession." That is true, and it is not probable that he will be permitted by Common-wealth's Attorney Franklin to make denlisted the services of Mayor Nelson, of Newport, to that end. But Youtsey has made a "statement" which is regarded as important. This statement without solicitation on the part of the person to whom it was made. Youtsey tells of his employment as a clerk in the office of "dow." Taylor, and how he carried messages to and from Taylor. He admite, it is said, that there was a plot to kill Goebel, and that some person was hired to fire the shott. He does not name the man who did the shooting or the man woprocured the shooting or the man woprocured enlisted the services of Mayor Nel He does not name the man who did the shooting or theman woprocured him to do it; nor does he state what compensation the assassin was given for the horrlble act. But he admits so the attorneys say, that he procured rifle and cartridges for the purpose of killing Goebel, and that he put the weapon and ammu-nition in the office of the secretary of state, and admitted four men to

lave More Cloney To Politics Than

The late Philetus Sawyer undoubtedly contributed more money for political purposes than any other man la the United States, if not in the world. While he never used money corruptly, he was coming on he would want things "stirred up" from one end of Wisconsin to the other, which cost a great deal of money, and he usually preferred to pay the bills himself rather than carry around a subscription paper. Very naturally the other republicans in the state would allow him to do so. Mr. Sawyer was the most liberal contributor in Wisconsin to the republicans or the state would allow him to do so. Mr. Sawyer was the most liberal contributor in Wisconsin to the republicans or the state would allow him to do so. Mr. Sawyer was the most liberal comparison. In addition to these he often made personal contributions toward the c am pa ig nexpenses of friends who were midel off in different parts of the country, while in Wisconsin comparatively few republicans every made a campaign for congress or the legislature or for any state office without direct personal assistance from Mr. Sawyer. Usually he sent it without solicitation. He knew almost every man in the state and was familiar with the pecuniary circumstances of the leading republicans in every town. Hence, when he heard that this man or that had been nominated for office he would not wait for an application to thousands of dollars every year.—Records.

Clash Between Military And Police at Frankfort is Narrowly Averted.

Arrested For Drunkenness And Bescued by Comrades-Beckham flen Peacemakers

Frankfort, Ky., April 7.—There is great excitement here to-night. The soldiers at the State House were arrested for drunkenness by the police. A squad of twenty-five soldiers dashed out of the yard and ordered the officers to release their comrades. A scuffle followed between the police and the men under arrest in which several soldiers injoined, pulling the prisoners away from the police, while the other soldiers turned loose a volley of from fifteen to twenty-five shots, which evidently were fired in the air. Having rescued their comrades, evidently were fired in the air.

Having rescues their comrades, the soldiers then retired inside the yard. Chief of Police Williams summoned his full force and started to the State House to demand the prisoners. The Beckham military authorities intercepted the police and dissuade them from attempting to capture the men who had started the trouble and who had been rescued by their comrades.

The soldiers of the opposing administations were drawn up reacy for action and trouble was very sarrowly averted.

Charles Broadway Rouss, The Millionaire New York Merchant.

People who happen to be on 5th avenue, New York, between 7 and 8 o'clock every evening can see an old-fashioned carriage with two seats driven rapidly uptown. On the back seat sits an old gentleman the back seat sits an old gentleman comfortably placed, well wrapped up with furs and a slouch hat drawn down over his eyes. Beside him is a younger man with an open newspaper spread upon his knees and an electric lamp in his hand. His mouth is close to his companion's ear so that the latter can hear distinctly that the latter can near distinct; the same reads the evening papers above the rattle of the wheels of thousands of carriages and delivery wagons over the rough stone pavement. Between 6 and 7 o'clock revery morning the same sight may of pub be witnessed by people who get out built.

be witnessed by people who get out so early.

The old gentleman in the carriage is Charles Broadway Rouss, a blind man who has the largest wholesale notion store in New York city, and that is the way he gets the news of the busy world. He says he has no time to have the newspapers read to him except while he is riding between his home and his store.

In 1865 Mr. Rouss came to New York from Winchester, Va., with York from winchester, va., win $1,80 as his capital. He is now one of the richest merchants in the city, and his wealth is estimated all the way from $5,000,000, to $20,000,000. Hanging in the most conspicuous place in his store, just where one who enters can read it, is a large framed card bearing

OUR STOCK OF

Spring and Summer Goods

Is Now Complete in Every Department.

And we most cordially invite the ladies to pay us a visit this season. You will find here by far the largest and most attractive lines of merchandise shown in this section; and that too at prices much less than goods of equal quality can be bought for in the large cities. A visit to our establishment will surely re-pay you. We mention below a few of our leading lines:

Easter and Spring Novelty Goods. People who keep abreast of the times realize the urgency of securing their spring costumes and furnishings in advance of the rush. Our stocks contain the most complete line of Easter and Spring Novelties ever placed at the disposal of the people of this city.

DEWEY'S PLATFORM.

Any Old Party Will Suit Us, Says Mrs. Dewey.

On his recent trip to Wheeling a friend of Admiral Dewey was chaf-fing him about his candidacy for the presidency, but was surprised to find that the Admiral was taking the matter very seriously. The friend asked Mrs. Dewey if she approved of the candidacy. She said:

sald:
"I don't think there is any doubt but what the Admiral will be a candidate for the presidency."
"Which party will nominate him?" she was asked.
"It makes no difference. He will be the people's candidate, and I think enough of the people will vote for him to elect him. It really doesn't make the slightest difference. The Admiral is a Republican, I am a Democrat, and for us one party is as good as another."

BAD SPELLER

A fellow was fool enoughto trust me when I first came to New York and I frusted others," said Mr. Rouss one day when I called upon him. "I smashed all to pieces; owed $51,000, paid it up dollar for dollar, never trusted any body again and never permit anybody to trust me.

Mr. Rouss' peculiar name is his trade mark. He was born in Frederick, Md., clerked in a country store at Winchester, Va., came to New York with an ambition to emulate A. T. Stewart, got a stock of goods and opened a small shop in Broadway, but customers were slow in coming and he painted a big sign, "Charles Broadway Rouss," to attract curiosity, which he believes was the foundation of his success in life. Overwork costhim his eyesight, but he continues to manage his business and knows everything that is going on in his great store.

I asked Mr. Rouss what he considered the greatest of virtues.

"Honesty," he replied: "that covers everything."

"And what is the greatest of virces?" lasked.

"Idleness—that is the source of all vice; a busy man has no time to be bad."

Mr. Rouss is a practical philan.

be bad."

Mr. Rouss is a practical philantrophist, and has given away large sums of money. He always gives a dollar to everybody who asks for aid or sends him a begging letter.
"You would not want me to print fact," I suggested.
"Why not?"
"Because it would bring upon you mulitudes of applications for money."

when the same appreciation for the man robs me he will suffer for it, not I; if I refuse a worthy man the aid he needs. I will suffer for it as well as he. I would rather give $10,000 to people who do not need it than to refuse $1 to a man who does."

Their First Quarrel,

Admiral and Mrs. Dewey have Admiral and Mrs. Dewey have had their hrst quarriel. The bride told a party of her friends about it Saturday, and every one in ton n wil know it before to-morrow night. It began by the admiral insisting, as all men do on occasion, that his wife wear rubbers. She refused to do so because it made her feet look so laree and clumsy, and they to do so because it made her feet look so large and clumsy, and they disputed until both grew very much excited when the admiral, in the height of his passion, declared that if Mrs. Dewey did not wear her rubbers he would no longer take a tonic that the doctor had prescribed for him at her suggestion. With tears in her eyes she surrendered and has worn rubbers ever since.—
